Dr. Arthur George Scott published this Zoo book to help children learn to read and enjoy learning about the wonderful animals at your local Zoo. Dr. Scott hopes that parents, grandparents, and older siblings will spend quality time with this book as a great learning experience.

CHAPTER 1

CHAPTER 1: MONKEYS

In the trees, where the sun shines bright,
Swining and leaping, a wonderful sight!
With a chatter and a boundless hop,
From branch to branch, they never stop!

PARENT & CHILD TALK: How do you think the monkeys move?

MOTION GAME: Leap and climb like a very nimble monkey!

CHAPTER 2

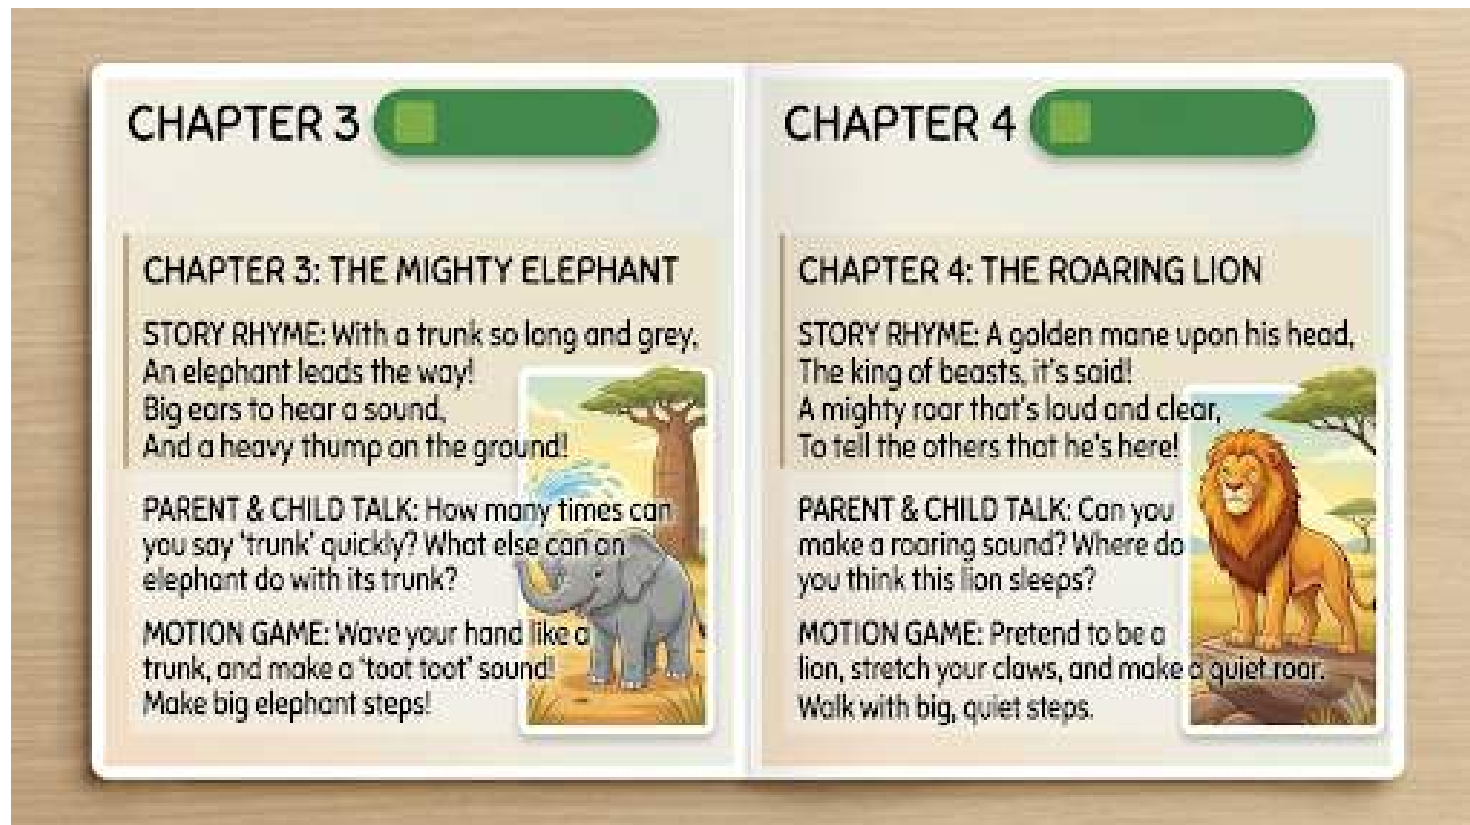

CHAPTER 2: THE TALL GIRAFFE

STORY RHYME: Reaching up so high to see,
Munching leaves off the tree!
Spots of brown on skin of gold,
A gentle giant, brave and bold!

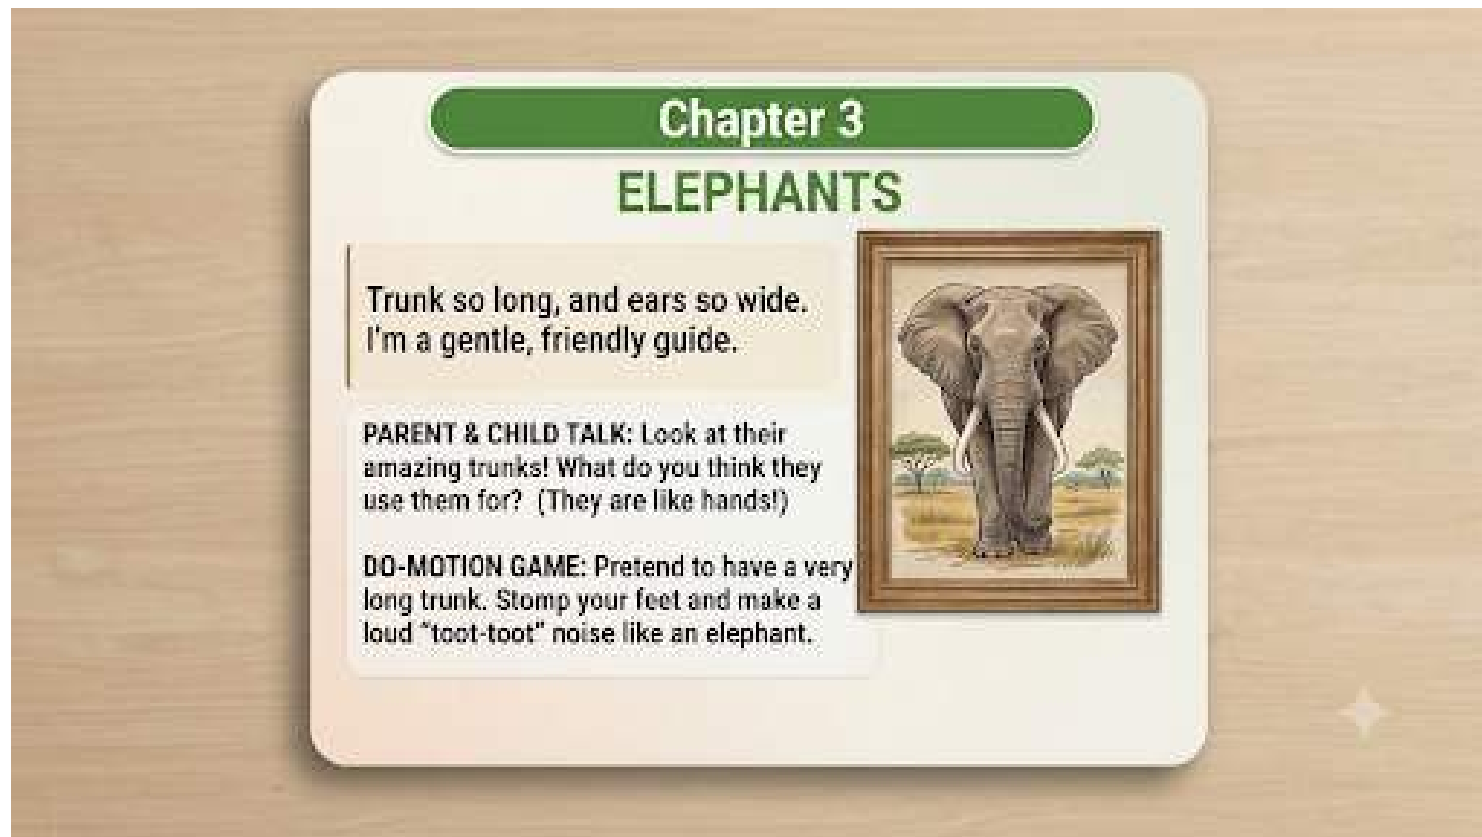

PARENT & CHILD TALK: What color are the giraffe's spots?

MOTION GAME: Stretch your arms way up, like a very tall giraffe!

Chapter 5

ZEBRAS

Stripes of black and stripes of white,
In the sun, I'm quite a sight.

PARENT & CHILD TALK: Why do you think I have stripes? (They help me blend into my herd, making me hard to see!)

DO-MOTION GAME: Use your fingers to make imaginary stripes on your body, then gallop around the room.

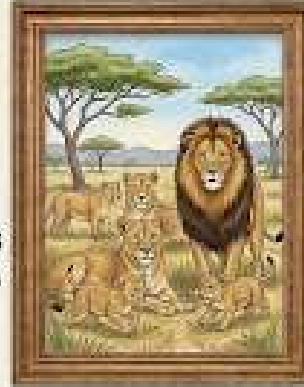

Chapter 6

LIONS

A golden coat and a mighty mane,
I rule the lands of the dusty plain.

PARENT & CHILD TALK: How can you tell which lion is the king? (Look for the male's large mane! The females, called lionesses, do most of the hunting together.)

DO-MOTION GAME: Prowl quietly on your hands and knees, then let out a great big lion roar: "ROAARRR!"

Chapter 7

PENGUINS

In a tuxedo I dress, although I cannot
I can waddle on land, and I swim, swimming by.

PARENT & CHILD TALK: How do penguins stay warm in the icy cold? (They have a thick layer of fat called blubber and very dense, waterproof feathers!)

DO-MOTION GAME: Stand tall and hold your arms stiff at your sides like flippers. Now, take tiny steps and waddle like a penguin! Can you make a "honk-honk" sound, too?

Chapter 9

LIONS

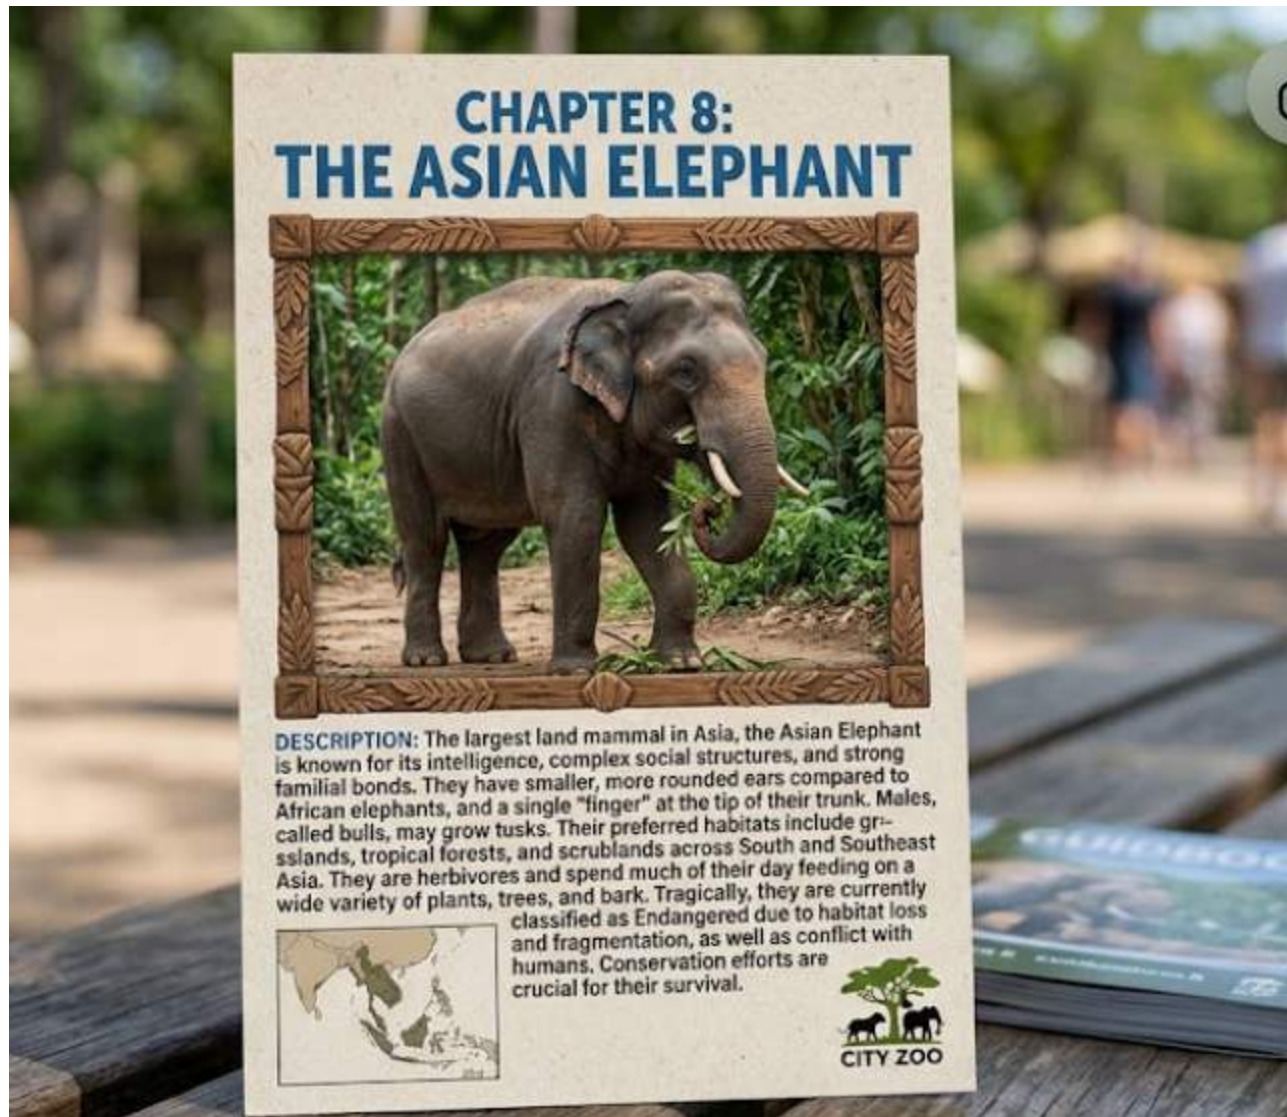

A golden coat and a mighty mane,
A king who rules the dusty plain.
With a roar that's heard from miles away,
To lead the pride both night and day.

PARENT & CHILD TALK: Which lion is the primary hunter? (A lioness (female) does most of the hunting for the pride.)
What is a 'pride'? (A family group of lions that lives and hunts together.)

DO-MOTION GAME: Prowl quietly on your hands and knees and then let out a mighty, king-sized roar: 'ROOAAARRR'!

Chapter 10

TIGERS

A flash of flame, a coat of fire,
Where tangled jungles never tire.
I move in silence, soft and deep,
A striped pattern made to keep.

PARENT & CHILD TALK: Are tiger stripes all the same? (No, every tiger's striped pattern is unique, just like a person's fingerprint!) Where do most tigers live? (In the dense jungles of Asia.)

DO-MOTION GAME: Stalk silently through your room on hands and knees, pretending to be in a dense jungle. Then, crouch down and make a sudden, great big leap. As you land, let out a mighty, powerful tiger roar: "GRRROOOAARRR!"

"You can never get enough books into the hands of enough children." Dolly Parton

Chapter 11

KANGAROOS

*Hop, hop, hop, across the land,
With a cozy pouch so grand!*

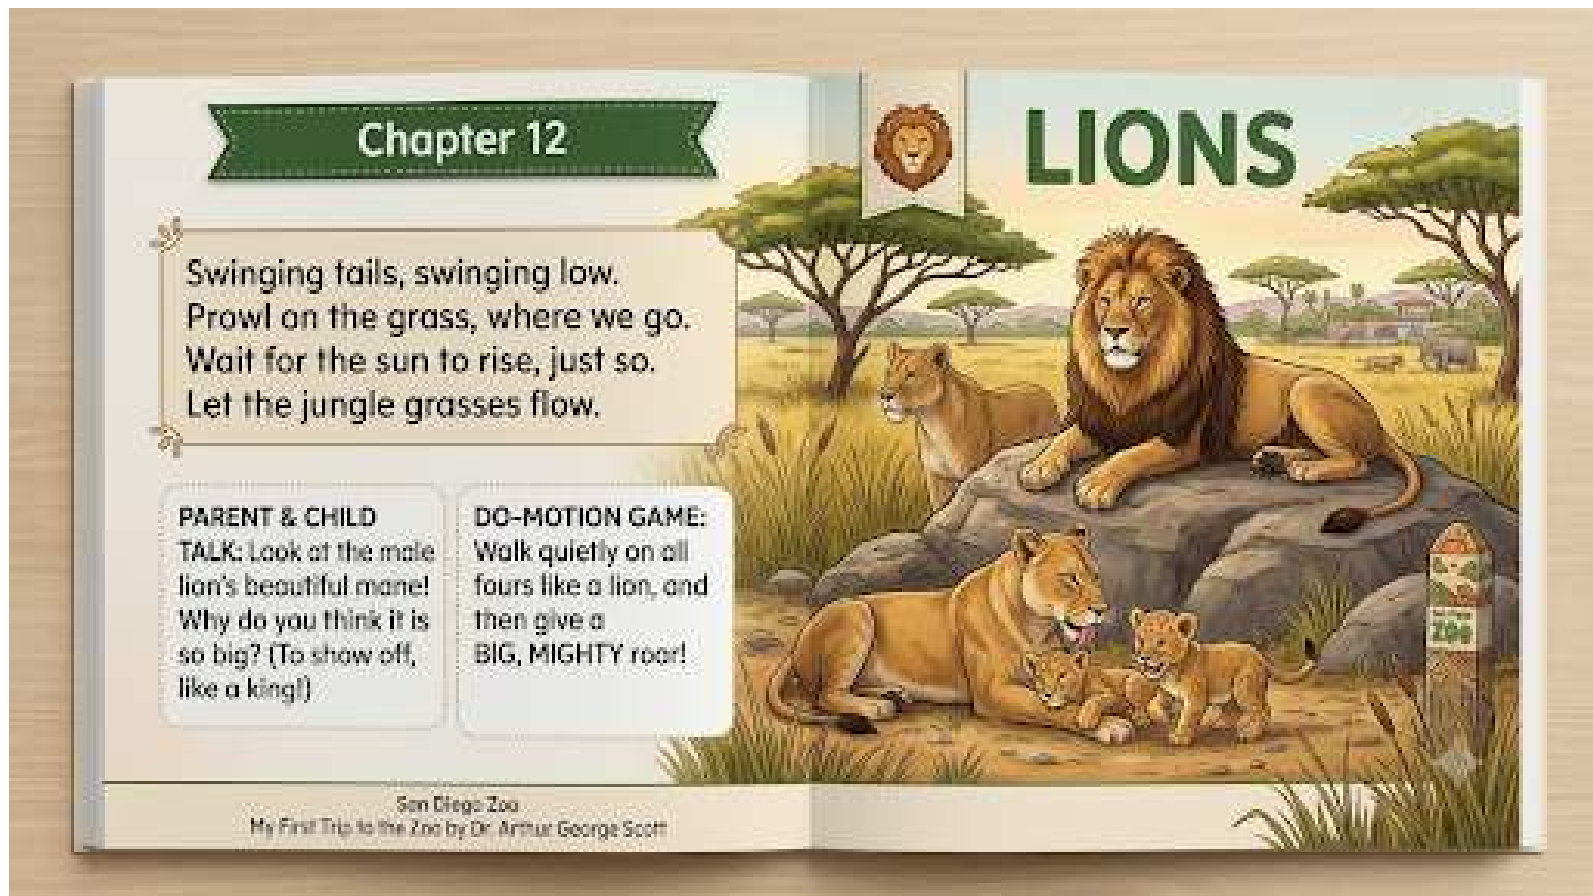

PARENTS & CHILDS TALK: See how powerful those back legs are! They can jump really far. Point to where the baby stays safe. (Point to the pouch)

DO-MOTION GAME: Take your hands and make small, low bounds. Now, make one giant, high hop! Can you keep a straight back?

Chapter 17

PENGUINS

With black and white suits, we look so neat,
Walking on ice on our waddling feet.
A great big dive in the cool, clear sea,
We are as fast as we can be.

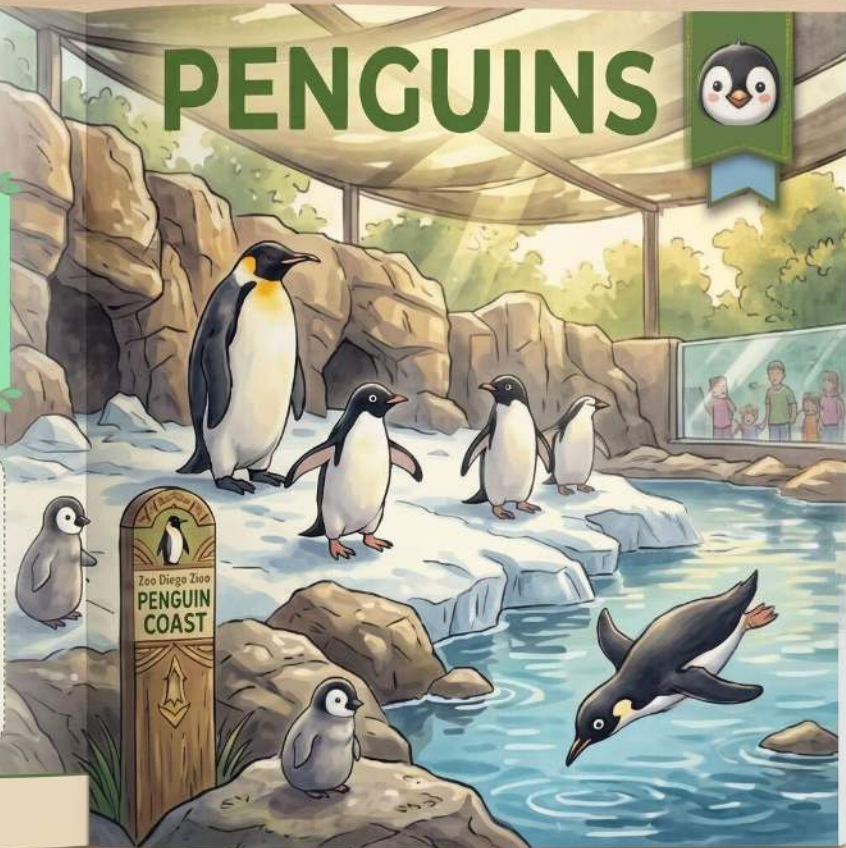

PARENT & CHILD

TALK: Watch how they walk! (Wait for a waddle). Do you think their suits are real? (Yes, they are specialized waterproof feathers!) Where can they go next? (Let's find the water!).

DO-MOTION GAME:

Let's be like penguins! Put your arms tight at your sides like stiff flippers. Now, take tiny steps and waddle around the room. Can you make a "honk" sound too?

Chapter 18 GORILLAS

Riddle poem:

"My arms are strong, my look is grand,"
"I'm a gentle king, on any land,"
"I may look big and tough and grey,"
"But I'm a peaceful soul, all through the day."

PARENT & CHILD TALK: Why do gorillas beat their chests? (To show off their strength or a happy mood!)
What makes them like us? (They live in family groups and use tools!)

DO-MOTION GAME: Make a loud "Hoo-hoo" sound! Now, puff out your chest and give it a playful drum-tap like a gorilla! Walk on your knuckles and look around.

Chapter 19

PENGUINS

Waddle, waddle, on the ice.
Dive in deep, that feels so nice.
Tuxedo suits, we look so neat.
Marching with our webbed feet.

PARENT & CHILD TALK: Look at their feet.
How do they keep their eggs safe?

DO-MOTION GAME: Pretend to dive and swim underwater with your arms.

Chapter 20

TIGERS

Stripes of orange, black and white,
In the jungle, what a sight!
Roaring loud and running fast,
A powerful king, built to last!

PARENT & CHILD TALK: Look at their stripes.
Do you think every tiger has the same patterns?

DO-MOTION GAME: Pretend to stalk silently through the jungle, then make a very big, loud ROAR!

Chapter 23

RHINOCEROS

San Diego Zoo

My skin is thick, my horn is grand,
I roam the wide and dusty land.
You'll see me graze on grass all day,
With much to do and much to say.

PARENT & CHILD TALK: Look at my big horn! What do you think I use it for?
(Point to the horn). Can you count my toes?
How does my skin feel?

DO-MOTION GAME: Stomp your feet, low and slow, like a big rhino walking!
Snort your nose! "Hrrumph!" Stomp again!

"You can never get enough books into the hands of enough children." Dolly Parton

Chapter 24

A horn so long, a snout so wide,
I'm a gentle beast with a friendly pride.
Let the zoo joy flow inside!

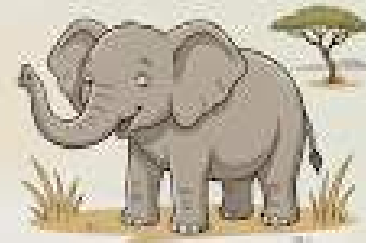

TRIP TO THE ZOO TALK: Look at that amazing horn! Why do you think it's there? (To protect itself!) Look how wide its nose is!

DO-MOTION GAME: Make your body very wide and stand strong! Put your arms out to the sides! Make a loud snort and take a slow, strong stomp! Stomp! Stomp!

Chapter 25

Trunk so long, and ears so wide.
I'm a gentle giant with nothing to hide.
Let the happy spirit be your guide!

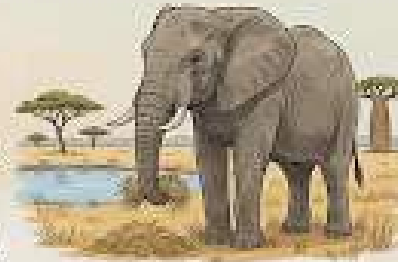

TRIP TO THE ZOO TALK: Look at that amazing long trunk! What do you think the elephant uses it for? (To eat, drink, and play!) Look at how big those ears are! (To stay cool!)

DO-MOTION GAME: Make an elephant trunk! Put one arm in front of your face and wave it slowly. Stomp your feet with slow, heavy steps, and make a loud TRRUMMPET! TRRUMMPET!

Chapter 27

Grey and big and grand all day,
With a trunk to lift the hay!
Let his gentle power lead the way!

TRIP TO THE ZOO TALK: Look at that incredibly long trunk! What do you think he uses it for? (Wait for a wiggle). Why are his ears so big? (Wait for a fanning swish). Can you find his powerful legs? (To be super strong!)
DO-MOTION GAME: Make a long elephant trunk! Stretch your arm way out. Pretend to pick up hay. Fan your ears! (Wave your hands). Make big elephant steps. Stomp! Stomp! Stomp!

Chapter 26

Neck so tall, I can touch the sky.
Watch me munch on the leaves way up high.
Let my spotted grace catch your eye!

TRIP TO THE ZOO TALK: Look at that incredibly long neck! Why is it so tall? (To reach the tops of the trees!) Can you spot the different shapes on its coat? (To stay cool!)

DO-MOTION GAME: Make a tall giraffe neck! Stretch your neck and arm way up as high as you can. Pretend to pluck leaves from the highest branch. Take long, slow, graceful steps. Harrumph!

Chapter 28

Upon my nose, a horn does grow,
With skin so strong, and footsteps slow.
A giant friend, that you will know!

TRIP TO THE ZOO TALK: Look at that incredibly strong, sharp horn! What do you think they use it for? (Wait for a gentle horn-snort!). Why is their armored skin so wrinkly? (Wait for a wrinkled twitch). Can you see their powerful footpads? (Soft-footed walk! [Parent: Soft-step harrumph! stomp!])

"You do not determine the worth of a person by their wealth or possessions, but rather by what it takes to discourage them." Dr. Jerry Falwell quoted this relentlessly during chapel services at Liberty University. This quote was from Vince Lombardi, the legendary American Football Coach and executive best known for leading the Green Bay Packers to five NFL championships and victories in the first two Super Bowls during the 1960s.

A great educator doesn't just teach a subject—they change the trajectory of our careers, our families, and our lives.

"You can never get enough books into the hands of enough children." Dolly Parton

Years ago, a friend told me that growing up in Iran, there is an understanding: if a teacher teaches you anything, you owe them your life. That reverence for learning, shared across cultures and traditions worldwide, reminds us how vital education truly is. Immigrants and diverse cultural perspectives constantly enrich our communities here in America, showing us the enduring value of respecting our educators and honoring our elders.

As a psychologist, musician, and educator, I share insights that nurture personal growth, creativity, and lifelong learning. Every person we connect with gives us a chance to make a lasting, positive difference.

I'm glad you're here—let's grow together.

I will never forget January 1976. I was in a singing group that represented Liberty University. During our four-week tour of California, our entire team walked through the San Diego Zoo. I hope this book inspires your family to visit a local zoo in your state. Children love pets, and seeing a live elephant, snake, or zebra creates memories that last a lifetime.
